

Graded Lab 04

Take two lists of size n , take input from user such that the input is in a sorted order. Then you are required to create a new third list, of the same size using the elements of the two lists that would give you the maximum sum. i.e. the third list will contain elements combined in a way that gives the maximum sum of the two lists.

